

Health Benefits of Sugar Cane Water

Hula Foods

THE CANE
WATER

International studies reported that sugar cane juice is a rich source of compounds that play an important role in sustaining human health. They include antioxidants (comprised mainly of hydroxycinnamic acid derivatives, phenolic acids and flavonoid glycosides), immunostimulatory, anti microbial and antiproliferative compounds.

Is a Rich Source of Vitamins

Cane water is a rich source of vitamins and other compounds that play an important role in sustaining human health. Include antioxidants, immunostimulatory, anti microbial and antiproliferative compounds.

Natural Occuring Sucrose:

The Cane Water Contains Natural Occuring Sucrose which is easily Metabolize by the body Processing of Sucrose by the body does not require the Pancreas to produce Insuline.

Non-Exhaustion of Minerals and Calcium:

The body Processing of refined sugars requires the body to exhaust calcium in the bones, also known as Mineral Leeching. Natural Occuring Sucrose, found in the cane water, does not resut in Mineral Leeching.